To Hire 100 Idle Pass Men In Forestry Work

BLAIRMORE —(CNP Bureau) —S. R. Hughes, administrative officer of the Eastern Rockies Forest Conservation Board, announced at a meeting of the Special Unemployment committee in Blairmore last Thursday night that plans are being completed to hire 100 men immediately for forestry work in this area.

Mr. Hughes advised that although there has as yet been no confirmation as to the funds available to do the work, that the work has been verbally agreed upon by the government. In response to this William Kovach, M.L.A., stated that he had been in conference with John Ferguson, liaison officer of the department of industries and labor, and that he had been advised that plans were being completed to hire 100 men.

Mr. Hughes stated that it was proposed to hire from 40 to 50 men the first week to prepare camps and that the second week would see another 40 to 50 men employed. He said this was not relief for the miners but was work that was necessary. The employment would give six months of steady work to the men and would last until the end of October. He indicated that the work would include bridge building, construction of trunk roads, installation of telephone lines, building of camp shelters and new camp grounds, adding that there were about 70 grounds being planned for the area, building of pack trails to remote areas for fire protection. He added the crews would also act as standbys in case of forest fires.

Mr. Kovach said the department of water resources had also set aside $10,000 for river work in this area which would include dredging and rip-rapping work, and would employ more local men.

Mr. Kovach also indicated that the construction of creeper grades in the area were being investigated as well as construction of a new piece of road around Crows Nest Lake where huge boulders have been falling off of the sheer cliffs alongside the road. He said the road would be surveyed and if possible work started this season.

He informed the meeting that the mining areas of Drumheller, Lethbridge and the Crows Nest Pass had been declared an emergency area by Premier Manning and that requests had been made to municipalities to give miners preference when work was available.

Working at Michel

F. J. Lote, manager of the NES at Blairmore, and chairman of the meeting, advised that a number of men have already been placed in Michel mines and are commuting back and forth daily. He also stated that a number of men had secured work in Waterton Park and that other men were being placed daily. He said only two men have applied for movement out of the town through the miners rehabilitation program.

Check Mineral Deposits

William Bird, general manager, of the West Canadian Collieries, was questioned as to the progress being made on the possibility of a power plant for the area and on the possibility of a steel industry for the area. Mr. Bird stated that every channel was being explored to bring a power plant to the area and that at the present time a number of geologists have arrived here from France and are looking over the mineral deposits.

Dave Young, manager of the Coleman Collieries indicated that Coleman Collieries were delving in the Japanese coal markets, and that representatives from Japan had visited the area recently and that samples of coal from Victory Creek had been taken back to Japan and had proved very satisfactory. He added that the Japanese will import coal if the quality is good and the price right.

To ensure this market Mr. Young and Mayor Abousaif of Coleman urged that all should be done to get this market and suggested that three items should be sought: 1st, a subvention of export coal from $1 per ton to $2 per ton; secondly, the CPR should be approached regarding a special freight rate for this market, and thirdly, all efforts should be made to get a loading dock built at Vancouver to cut down costs of having to ship coal to Seattle and Portland for export.

Coal Export

S. G. Farrell, exporter of coal from Vancouver, gave a clear picture on the facts and figures embraced in the exporting coal business. Mr. Farrell whose parent company is in Portland, Oregon, said a bulk loading dock built at Vancouver, would not only prove extremely beneficial to the coal industry but would tend to develop all industries in western Canada as there was a market in Japan and other countries. Bulk loading dock facilities would be used for shipping sulphur from this area as well as potash from Saskatchewan. He said a dock of this nature would cost up to $15 million.

Mr. Farrell said it was the dream of Japanese industry to find a suitable coaling dock in the west coast of either the States or Canada, rather than having to import some three million tons annually from the East coast. To show how important coal was to Japan he said "cut off the coal from Japan for one month and the entire country would be paralyzed."

Mr. Farrell said the coal from Victory Creek at Coleman, was of good quality and was very suitable for Japan. Should the dock be built in Vancouver he felt that the coal could be sold $2 per ton cheaper than if it had to be loaded at Seattle or Portland.

Adding to Mr. Farrell's talk, Mr. Young stated that the Japanese who had visited the Pass recently were satisfied with the quality of the coal from Victory Creek and that the men had returned to Japan to arrange finance and if the price of the local coal was right that a deal could possibly be negotiated within two weeks to two months and could result in a long term contract.

As a result of the meeting several briefs will be drawn up for presentation to the federal government.

Among those present at the meeting were the members of the special unemployment committee, Mayor William Gray of Blairmore; Mayor Frank Abousaif of Coleman; J. J. Yanota of Blairmore; William Kovach, M.L.A., John Hogan of the Forestry Department; L. Morgan of Blairmore; Joe Dobek, president Blairmore Board of Trade; Vern Decoux, of Lethbridge Herald; as well as Mr. Farrell, Mr. Bird, Dave Young, Mr. Hughes, B. Slopek and Edward Boyd, secretary-treasurer of District 18, U.M.W.A. and W. Ure, representative of District 18 U.M.W.A.

Sports Assn. Launch Large Repair Program

The Sports Association last week launched an extensive repair program on the arena.

This repair project has been badly needed for quite some time, but it has only been made possible to start this work now, due to the transfer of funds from the defunct Community Civic Centre project, which has turned over to the Association $2900.

Work slated to be done at the present time calls for concrete footings on the north and west walls, installing imitation brick siding to the north and west walls, remodel the kitchen, install two more fire exits on the north wall. A new board fence on the inside for the west end, the painting of the interior walls and seats.

These are only some of the projects that will get underway in the next two months.

Volunteer labor will handle this large undertaking. Considerable help is needed and Mr. George Jenkins, president of the Association will gladly accept all offers of help. Due to not a sufficient turnout at the annual general meeting of the association it was cancelled last Sunday.

Coleman Oldtimer Found Dead

The sands of time have run out for another one of Coleman's oldtimers, Mr. William Brown, who came to Coleman many years ago. Mr. Brown was found dead on his ranch west of Coleman on Sunday last by Mr. T. Lloyd who had gone to visit him.

Mr. Brown was 76 years of age and had worked for many years in the International mine. He retired a few years ago on the Miners Welfare Pension and was a member of the Catholic faith and the U.M.W.A.

Born in Ireland, he came to Canada and Coleman in 1906, leaving Coleman to work in Saskatchewan for a period of two years, returning here in 1908 when he found employment in the McGillivray mine as a fireman, later going to International where he was employed until retirement.

There is no known survivors in Canada and R.C.M.P. state that there was no inquest as Mr. Brown died from natural causes.

Funeral services will be held today (Wednesday) from the Holy Ghost Church at 3 p.m., Rev. Father Flemming officiating, interment in the Catholic Cemetery.

Dance Revue Well Received By Pass Residents

Breath-taking costumes, hours of hard work by teachers and pupils and parents, patience worn thin and real honest-to-goodness hard work paid off this week-end when Mrs. Carolyn Holyk's dancing school again staged a very lively organized Dance Revue.

The Elks' hall was well filled, both Friday and Saturday evenings when the youngsters trooped out on the stage. Spirited dancing by the tiny tots was very well received by the audience. These small ones seem to put all their energy into their efforts to put across their talents. A dainty minuet dance by this group in old-fashioned costumes, was really a thing to see.

A Boston group under the direction of Claire Godwin, performed very well in both group and solo numbers. Maybe we will see some more of them as drum majorettes with a band some day. Two tiny tots, Valdeen Salus and Monica Guden performed like veterans, even though they are just learning. The other girls deserve credit also as this is a very tricky act to perform.

Dutch dances, Ukrainian dances, Ballets, Waltzes, Gypsy dances, Rhapsodies, each with their appropriate beautiful costumes were enthusiastically received by the audience. The senior class performed several dances such as the Irish Washwoman was well done.

Boys were not forgotten this year when several danced to Turkey in the Straw and despite mothers' fears that they wouldn't make it, did an excellent job.

Me and My Teddy Bear and Peter Cottontail dances were really cute.

Mrs. Polly Purvis in her own versatile way kept the audience in stitches during her well performed and delivered monologues.

Of course our own Elvis Presley alias Allen Gale, was in good voice and motion and really went over with the crowd.

All in all it was a very well performed and entertaining Revue and we hope Mrs. Holyk will keep up her encouraging work in the future and that the students will co-operate as well in the future as they have in the past, to keep these revues coming our way.

Tippie Worker Suffers Injuries To Hand

Mr. Joe Kovalik suffered painful injuries to his right hand last week while working at the International Tippie.

According to information given The Journal, Mr. Kovalik suffered the loss of part of a finger plus deep cuts to the rest of his hand when it became caught in the loading machine used to load box cars with coal.

Only quick thinking on the part of another worker, saved Mr. Kovalik from a more serious injury.

Indicative of an enlarging manufacturing industry in Alberta, the latest figures for employment in manufacturing $2,765 persons are making their living that way.

Jamie Siska Fund Progressing Satisfactorily

JAMIE SISKI

That young Coleman lad, Jamie Siska — the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Siska, and the brother of Doreen Siska — is receiving all the possible help from the reputable and generous organizations and citizens of Coleman and abroad. They all realize that Jamie has undergone very expensive and successful heart operation at Rochester, and they also realize that the C.Y.O. a group of teen-agers, have undertaken a charitable and worthy project which is a very trying and difficult responsibility to undergo.

The only possible way that the C.Y.O. can complete their drive successfully (that is to raise $500 by the end of this month) is to receive donations, both large and small, from any organization or citizen, that can afford to contribute without undergoing too great a loss.

The C.Y.O. has announced that they are very proud of the school students, in particular those that attended the C.Y.O. benefit dance recently, and also the members of the Coleman Junior high school, who sponsored a benefit day on Saturday, May 11, which turned out to be very successful because of the people who not their shoes shined; those that had taken their cars to be washed, those that gave the students baby sitting jobs and finally those that had odd jobs to be done and let the students do them.

The C.Y.O. benefit dance also turned out to be an overwhelming success due to two reasons: that such a large number of teen-agers attended the dance from towns all over the Pass; second, the considerate members of the orchestra who, on last minute notification consented to contribute their talents and play at the dance all evening. These musicians are: Milton Vrakovsky, Leslie Owen, Edward Flaffio and Alex Kincaid.

At the dance the C.Y.O. raised $49.75 for Jamie Siska, and is considering to hold another dance in the near future and the C.Y.O. hope that the above-mentioned will play again.

The C.Y.O. has no complaints whatsoever because they are receiving all kinds of donations, both from generous organizations and considerate families. Here are a few names of those who contributed to date:

Coleman Order of the Royal Purple, Pythian Sisters, Coleman Italian Lodge, Coleman Legion, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Geisel, Mr. and Mrs. S. Korchucka, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Skura, Mr. A. Ferrara and Coleman Journal.

Those that are definitely intending to contribute are:

Coleman Junior high school, the Coleman Elks at their next bingo, Coleman High school, Mr. and Mrs. D. Young, and Coleman Collieries.

To the above-mentioned a very sincere "thanks" is extended by both the C.Y.O. and the Siska family for their considerations and generosity. We thank you.

Most of the organizations have been approached but some have been promised, to those that wish to participate in the drive your name will be sent Helen Warman, secretary-treasurer, Jamie Siska Fund, Coleman. This also applies to private families who wish to make a contribution to this worthy cause.

Don't forget the drive ends this month and every donation helps, announces that they raised a fifteen if it's a dollar. The C.Y.O. tie over $200 and have strong hope of achieving their objective—$500.

You are all recommended for your fine efforts, generous contributions and also maintaining a well-earned reputation of supporting such a drive.

Rodeo Committee Finalize Plans For Gala Event

The Coleman Rodeo committee of the Board of Trade have been putting forth extensive efforts to bring to the people of Coleman and district the best possible Rodeo ever to be held in the Pass.

Parade plans call for more top name bands than ever before. Such outstanding bands as the HMCS Tecumseh band from Calgary; the Cranbrook Girls' Band, RCAF and the Army, Navy and Air Force Pipe band from Lethbridge, plus many others that will be on hand for the mammoth parade, promises to give the finest ever witnessed outside of the cities in Alberta.

The famous Silver Spurs from the U. S. A. will provide another outstanding event of the night show. Outdoor bingo, dancing and free movies for all is just another one of many outstanding events planned for the annual rodeo holiday. So folks, don't forget to tell your friends to come and see the Greatest Little Rodeo ever held in Alberta.

President Rebekah Assembles of Alta. Visits Coleman Lodge

Mrs. Mary LaBerge of Calgary, President of the Rebekah Assembly of Alberta, paid her official visit to the Rebekah Lodge No. 7 Tuesday evening. A good attendance with members of Crowfoot Lodge, Blairmore, and Ray of Hope Lodge of Bellevue, being present.

Mrs. LaBerge gave a very uplifting and impressive talk on the wonderful work being carried on by a small membership. She encouraged these faithful members to carry on, stating there is always a silver lining in every dark cloud.

Mrs. E. Lonsbury expressed the pleasure of herself and all members at having the president visit this lodge as it was one of the oldest Rebekah Lodges in Alberta, and that it had struggled along through some very difficult and trying times.

Since Mrs. LaBerge had stated she did not wish to receive a gift from the lodge, a cheque was presented to her instead to be donated to the Polo Fund which is in her care. Mrs. LaBerge thanked the members for the very thoughtful gesture.

Short addresses were then given by Mrs. E. DeCours, N.G. of Crowfoot Lodge, Blairmore; Mrs. M. Coates, N.G. of Ray of Hope Lodge, Bellevue; Mrs. H. Simpson, N.G. of Victoria Lodge, of Coleman. Another distinguished guest present was Mrs. F. Padgett of Bellevue, Past President of the Rebekah Assembly of Alberta.

At the close of the meeting what was enjoyed with honors going to: 1. Mrs. E. Lonsbury, 2. Mrs. E. Lonsbury, Blairmore.

A delicious lunch was served by the committee.

Grenfell sights water, sewer nearer possibility

It begins to look like water and sewer service for Grenfell this year, optimistically reports the Grenfell Sun. Says the Sun: "Latest reports from the two grapevines (official and unofficial) are that a water source is in the cards for 1957 and that the council is pursuing financial arrangements for the plan with officials concerned."

Wolesey and Moosomin, it is noted, installed these modern services recently, and "wouldn't be without them." Kipling is making arrangements for installations in 1957. —The News, Indian Head, Sask.—April 11, 1957.

A step toward better throwing

One baseball skill in which the average player can stand a lot of improvement is the apparently simple action of throwing. Right from the first time he picks up a ball, a youngster has to throw, yet very few baseball players learn to throw correctly. One of the important factors affecting the efficiency of your throw is the stride forward. If it's too long, you'll lack control, too short, and you'll lose power. The step should be the same length every time otherwise your control will be as erratic as your step.

The ideal stride is about six to eight inches long. Next time you're tossing a baseball around, check to see how your stride measures up. Is it too long? Too short? Does the length change everytime you throw?

To develop an even stride, place a target on the ground six to eight inches in front of your lead foot in your "ready to throw" stance. Throw the ball back and forth with a friend, changing your speed on every throw, but trying to hit that target with your front foot every time. Remember, too, that your foot should point straight ahead at the spot you're aiming, not off to the side.

Work at this drill every day. You may have to keep it up for a month or two before your stride becomes "grooved," but the effort will really pay off later in your baseball career.

Groove Your Approach — The first fundamental of any jumping event—broad jump, high jump, pole vault, long jump and jump—is the approach. Unfortunately, it is also the most overlooked. But unless this approach is "grooved" so that you reach the right take-off spot every time, you can't concentrate on the actual jump.

Jesse Owens, the world record holder for the broad jump, could run through his approach perfectly 10 times out of 10 in 10 minutes.

At your next practice, before you do any actual jumping, run through your approach 10 or 15 times. Do it at the beginning of every jumping practice and you'll find that it will really pay off in added confidence and distance as the season goes on.

Support for dry skimmed milk

The Minister of Agriculture, the Right Honourable James G. Gardiner, announced recently that the Agricultural Prices Support Board had been authorized to provide a support price for Canada First Grade dry skimmed milk on the basis of a price of 17 cents per pound for spray process and 14 cents per pound for roller process, f.o.b. storage at certain designated storage points throughout Canada. The Minister stated that he hoped by introducing this additional support for the dairy industry that sufficient stability would be provided to encourage producers to maintain their present production of milk. Consumption of dry skimmed milk in Canada is increasing annually so it has been considered desirable to maintain approximately the present market price for dry skimmed milk during the spring and summer flush production period.

Expectant mothers get free vaccine

Manitoba's expectant mothers—and there are about 20,000 of them each year—can now receive free Salk vaccine under the provincial government's policy of extending the battle against the threat of polio.

The new plan went into effect Monday (April 1), at the same time that the immunization program for pre-school children (age six months to five years) was launched. Before this, free anti-polio vaccine was administered to children in the age five to Grade Nine group.

Hon. R. W. Bend, minister of health, said vaccine for expectant mothers would be available, on application of family physicians, from health units and health officers. In each case, the physicians must submit the names of the expectant mothers for whom the free vaccine is intended. This, said Mr. Bend, is for record purposes.

The physician administers the vaccine himself, unlike the children's immunization programs where health units and health officers do the actual vaccinating. The minister said past experience shows children under 15 and expectant mothers seem most susceptible to polio.

He suggested, however, that adults up to the age of 40 would be wise to see their own doctors

Fall vacations

With evidences of Spring all 'round us we'll be thinking of planning our annual vacation. Looking back over vacations past may influence this year's itinerary.

Your vacation is ended. You climb into the car and drive back home along highways clogged with hundreds of other vacationers. You come back to the city, and the mid-season heat wave is in full swing. In no time at all you're forgotten about the cool beach or the mountains and you begin to wonder whether the holiday has increased your well-being as holidays are supposed to do.

Tired of it all? Try a fall vacation. To start with, autumn vacationers have the advantage because there are so few of them. They can pick their holiday spots without running up against "no vacancy" signs and be assured of a welcome from hotel and resort operators.

Highway traffic has thinned out. There is seating room on trains and buses once more and reaching the right place at the right time is back within the realm of possibility.

For fishermen, it's a millennium. The bracing air has its effect on the fish as well as the angler. Bass and muskies, too lazy to show more than passing interest in a lure during the dog days of July and August, wake up and go on a feeding spree. The fishing holes are free of bathers and noisy, skittering outboards.

Camera fans have a field day. What better subject for color film than autumn foliage?

If there is any drawback, it lies in the temperamental required of the vacationer. He must be a rather philosophical type, prepared to gamble on the vagaries of autumn weather and equipped with the fortitude to sit back and wait through the summer when everyone else is off in the country acquiring sunburns.

He has to settle for hiking through frost-painted hillsides rather than reaching the "sand" for sweaters rather than bathing suits, for blood-red October sunsets instead of balmy July breezes.

Are there any compensations? Try it and see.—The Enterprise, Belkirk, Man.—March 27, 1957.

Strictly Fresh

A G.I. was having such a ball while on leave that he put in a long-distance call to his top kick. "Look, Sarge," he begged, "Lemme stay over a couple days. I've got a beautiful party going on. Sixteen of us. If I leave, it'll break up the whole affair."

"Whaddya mean?" snorted the sergeant. "One person out of 16 leaves and it breaks up the party? Who are you, that you got so important?"

"You see, Sarge," explained the G.I., "the other 15 are girls."

Did you hear about the brave hunter who came back to camp with his hands full of splinters? Seems he caught a timber wolf bare-handed.

"I take my wife absolutely everywhere," boasted a battle-scarred husband, "but it's no use. She always finds her way back."

The judge in the traffic court looked up in surprise when one motorist pulled out a $20 bill, wiped it in his honor's mitt, and made a drive for the exit. "What's your hurry?" asked the judge. "I don't want to get behind right back in here," explained the motorist. "I'm double parked!"

The new science teacher, was annoyed to discover that his students spent most of the last half of their hour with him casting more or less surreptitious looks at the clock above his desk. Finally he put up a sign under it that pointed out, "Time will pass. How about you?"

A neurotic movie queen was overjoyed when a psychiatrist rented her home in Palm Springs. "At last," she chorled, "I've got him lying on my couch!"

Yorkton purchases walk snowblower

The city of Yorkton has purchased a new Searo snowblower and a Ferguson 35 tractor for clearing the sidewalks of snow, reports The Yorkton Enterprise. The tractor will also be used in the summer for other city work.

The snowblower is said to clear a four-foot four-inch width and under ordinary conditions moves along at about three miles per hour. The blower can be swung 180 degrees and the snow blown 75 feet if necessary, or crowded down to only six or seven feet.—The Times, Kamusack, Sask., March 28, 1957. 2243

SASK. ROUGHRIDERS ANNOUNCE SPEEDY BACK INKS CONTRACT

SAM WESLEY

Sam Wesley, a 23-year-old Negro halfback from Oregon State, is small as football players go but scouting reports on his playing ability were so glowing that "Riders" wasted little time in getting his signature on a contract.

A fleet backfielder standing five-foot-ten and weighing 160 pounds, Wesley runs the 100-yard dash in 9.6 seconds. He was named to the all-Pacific Coast second all-star team in 1955. A dangerous threat on offence, Wesley is also topnotch defensive halfback and has a good pair of hands for catching and intercepting passes.

Couple witness many changes during 44 years in St. James

Board sidewalks, mud roads and unlit streets were features of St. James when Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beck came here in 1913.

The district has changed since then but Mr. and Mrs. Beck still live at 230 King Edward street, their home for the past 44 years.

"The wooden walks were a problem," Mr. Beck reminisced in a recent interview. "Loose slats would fly up and hit you in the face." "Groceries were purchased differently in those days," Mrs. Beck remembered. "Besides bringing provisions, delivery boys called at the homes every morning to take orders."

Walking was a favorite recreation of the couple. Often they would stroll to Chad's Hotel, now the site of Deer Lodge Hospital.

Genius, that power which dazzles mortal eyes, is oft but perseverance in disguise.—Henry Ward Austin.

Welcome news

(The Herald Tribune, Grande Prairie, Alta.)

Among the most welcome news stories of this year is the one which reports that 1957 will be a banner year for Canadian immigration. On the heels of discovering that Canada's population exceeded predictions in its growth over the past five years, it is more than refreshing to hear that our greatest need—that for more people—is being filled.

It would be even more pleasant if we could report that this influx of people was a result of action by our government. Unfortunately this isn't the case.

There are two basic causes for the anticipated increase in immigration. One is the Soviet crisis, which brought to Britain increased austerity. This austerity brought many Britons to the decision that it would be wise to emigrate to Canada, where austerity is only a word.

Second cause was the uprising in Hungary. A large proportion of this year's immigrants are Hungarians who left their native land when it appeared that resistance was futile against overwhelming numbers of Russian troops.

There's a further fact that should be welcome news for Canada. It's that the bulk of the prospective immigrants are people in their twenties. These young people, eager to make a new life in a growing nation, are the very ones we need. Because, with them, the new portions of Canada now being developed can be opened up.

A band for Maple Creek

(The News, Maple Creek, Sask.)

Tomorrow night, Friday, March 1st, citizens of Maple Creek and district will meet in the banquet room of the Community Hall to decide whether it is possible to organize a band in this community.

There are those who say it can't be done. We recollect these same people stubbornly maintaining that it was fantastic to think of building a covered rink in Maple Creek, and more recently being opposed to the building of the Community Hall. There were those, however, who insisted these projects were possible and went ahead and finished them. Consequently, we have proof that if citizens of Maple Creek want something they CAN have it. All it requires is a little work and perseverance.

The same can be true of a band. The Rotary Club is willing to underwrite the cost of the band. All that is required are the children to compose the band, and the instructors and necessary officials to look after the details of organizing and maintaining a band.

The advantages of having a band in a community are many, and need not be listed here. They're derived from belonging to a band are just as many. Parents of children wishing to take part in band activities, and all others interested in the formation of a band should make it a point to attend the meeting on Friday evening in the Community Hall.

Must they?

(The Globe, Lacombe, Alta.)

Something new has been added to the winter warnings issued by our weather prophets.

For many years, they have been content to tell the temperature story in a few simple words thus: "It's 20 below zero, so dress up warmly." No more. They give additional information in meteorological reports today in the form of a streamlined modern phrase called, "wind chill". It is no longer plain 20 below zero outside. There's a four-mile-an-hour wind blowing too, so by checking the charts (somehow or other wind velocity isn't the whole story) it's possible to compute the "wind chill" at 28 below zero.

We are certainly grateful to the weatherman for this comforting news. He is no doubt trying to be helpful by telling us about "wind chill", but isn't the chilling report about a chilly 20-below zero enough?

The weatherman is too conscientious about his work. First thing we know, when the mercury shoots up to 90 degrees next summer, we'll be told the temperature is 90 but that the blistering sun gives a "heat ray" equivalent to 99 degrees.

Life is a funny proposition

(The Herald, Thumville, Ont.)

Man comes into this world without his consent and leaves it against his will. During his stay on earth his time is spent in one continuous round of contraries and misunderstandings by the balance of our species. In his infancy he is an angel; in his boyhood he is a devil; in his manhood he is everything from a lizard up; in his duties he is an utter fool; if he raises a family he is a chump; if he raises a small check he is a thief; and then the low raises the devil with him; if he is a poor man he is a poor manager and has no sense; if he is rich he is dishonest, but considered smart; if he is in politics he is a grifter and a crook; if he is out of politics you can't place him, as he is an undesirable citizen; if he goes to church he is a hypocrite; if he stays away from church he is a sinner and damned; if he donates to foreign missions he does it for show; if he doesn't he is stingy and a tight-wad. When he first comes into the world everybody wants to kiss him—before he goes out they all want to kick him. If he dies young there was a great future before him, if he lives to a ripe old age he is simply in the way and living to save funeral expenses. Life is a funny road, but we all like to travel it just the same.

The passing locomotive

(The News-Optimist, North Battleford, Sask.)

We're living in a changing world. Take the railroad, for instance, it's getting so there's no fun and excitement in hurrying down to the station just before train time and listen for that choo, choo, choo-choo, at the railroad crossing just outside of town. Then with the thunder of rolling wheels and hissing steam the great locomotive comes pounding into the station. Ah, with what magnificent bell-ringing and choo-chooing fanfare the old steam locomotive entered town!

The railroad steam locomotive, one of man's noblest monstrosities, is fast disappearing from these parts. Like the horse, and the old sailing ships, with it goes glamor and romance. What man, when he was a young boy, didn't say he was going to be a railroad engineer? And taking the place of the old steamer is a streamlined "thing" that doesn't smoke, smell or sound like any part of a railroad.

We'll miss the old choo-choo. By the way, how do kids play railroading now? They can't say choo-choo or chug-chug. The poor kids, surely they don't have to go around saying putt, putt! Nope, it's bad and we don't like it.

These old engines had a character all their own. They did things, like the big bad wolf, with lots of noise. They hissed, sighed, sobbed, grunted and roared, and our fondest memories are of the far sound of a train on a clear winter's night. Then there was something inspiring, blood-stirring and noisily dramatic about a locomotive starting a long, heavy line of cars.

Man, that's railroading!

The smell of the great steam engine—there was something that really made the nose quiver—a pungent mixture of smoke, hot cinders, steam and oily, greased metal. But today as the "thing" rolls by it smells the same as heavy motor traffic on a hot July night.

Mostly we'll miss the god-like man, the engineer. Perched high among throttles, handles and little wheels, leaning half out the little window, he would wave his hand in a magnificent, casual salute, as the train thundered past. For days us kids would recall that adventure. Real past relations stuff it was, too, the friendly railroader and the admiring onlooker. Surely that epic and span individual we see getting on the "thing" isn't the same person, and anyway when the modern train goes "sneaking" swiftly past we don't even see the engineer.

That's progress for you!

Powerful impact... Of a good man's life

(The Clarion, Kindersley, Sask.)

One of the more poignant memories of our youth is that of attending, in company with other Boy Scouts and with the Girl Guides, Brownies and Cubs of Saskatoon, the memorial service held in St. John's Cathedral on the occasion of the death of Lord Baden-Powell. At that time we had but a sketchy appreciation of the magnificence of the Chief Scout's life but we sensed, even then, the importance of the occasion. We knew that men and women and boys and girls of all ages, in nearly every civilized nation, on that day, were taking time out from their preoccupation with a global war to acknowledge their sadness and sense of loss at this great man's passing. It was not until many years later that we realized that it was an occasion unique in history—that no other man has ever been so universally loved and respected.

Sixteen years have passed and have left behind them a deeper understanding of the impact which this single life has had upon the world we live in. Here was a soldier who truly beat his sword into a ploughshare—and used it to cultivate the most fertile field the earth can offer. When one considers the vastness of the reservoir of international goodwill that the Scout and Guide movements have endeavored throughout the world one cannot help but wonder if any other human being has ever made such a contribution toward the establishment of the peace we all hope for.

Be that as it may, this truth, at least, is above any question or any need for speculation: millions of men and women now living have Baden-Powell to thank for guiding them, in their formative years, toward a useful, full and richly satisfying life.

New approach to obscene literature

(From The Casket, Antigonish, Nova Scotia)

A Juvenile Court judge in Indiana has come forward with what looks like a good suggestion. He has declared open warfare on magazine dealers displaying or selling obscene reading matter. He plans to charge such dealers with contributing to the delinquency of minors.

The judge said that when he receives a report of obscene literature being sold or displayed for sale he plans to dispatch a probation officer to investigate, and then act on the basis of the investigation.

By charging dealers with contributing to the delinquency of minors, he said, it is possible to escape entanglement in the legalities of defining what is obscene. Definition of the term has been the difficulty in enforcing laws against obscene literature in the past.

"It is much easier to decide on the issue of contributing to the delinquency of children than it is for a court to decide the question of obscenity," the judge said. "In this sense, then, enforcement of endecent literature can be facilitated."

This novel approach to the problem seems worth pursuing in Canada.

Watch Those Tires

OTTAWA—A small truck has a flat tire on a suburban highway stretch and the driver pulls off to the curb to fix it—but not all the way off. The truck's tail-end juts into the traffic lane, a second vehicle crashes it, kills the driver while he's fixing the flat and sends the man in charge of the second vehicle to hospital with terrible injuries. Truck and car are practically demolished, the damage estimated in thousands of dollars. Police in this case blamed both drivers—the victim for not pulling his truck completely off the pavement and the other for failing to see the parked truck.

Relating this incident, an official of the Canadian Highway Safety Conference pointed to an important factor that was—and usually is—neglected. That factor was the flat tire. Why, asked W. H. Funston of Hamilton, Ont., CHSC treasurer, should the tire have been allowed to reach a condition that set off a fatal chain of circumstances? Tires cannot repair nor maintain themselves only their owners can know when they need repairs or replacements and only the owner can bring those things about. That goes for all vehicle maintenance—brakes, headlights, rear and stop lights, tires, steering and wheel alignment, exhaust system and muffler, windshield wipers, glass areas, horn, rear-view mirror and others, said Mr. Funston.

"No car," he said, "can repair itself any more than you can 'un-happen' an accident. The most inexcusable accidents are the ones that result from inadequate vehicle maintenance. Any intelligent driver can tell by a calm, casual inspection of his car if there's something serious wrong with it, or by sensing something wrong in the 'feel' of his car as he drives. That—the time when he sees or senses something out of place—is when repairs should be made. Later may be too late!"

Mr. Funston, who is also president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co. of Canada Ltd., called attention to the spring campaign the Conference is sponsoring, aimed at ridding the streets and roads of Canada of vehicles in dangerous mechanical condition. It will be called "Check Your Car, Check Accidents", he said, and will operate coast to coast, throughout May. Participating actively are service clubs, junior chamber of commerce, provincial safety leagues, automobile manufacturers and dealers, service stations, garages, community safety councils, oil companies, provincial and municipal government officials concerned with vehicle safety, and many other government, industrial and service organizations.

The motorist's part in the "Check Your Car, Check Accidents" drive is simple, said Mr. Funston. "All he has to do is have the vital items of his car checked, and thus know his vehicle is safe. If he knows that, then you and I—and that driver—are safe from possible injury or death, as a result of mechanical failure on the part of his vehicle."

Prevent Forest Fires

With grim recollection of the 238 forest fires in Alberta last year, the Forest Protection branch of the Provincial Department of Lands and Forests is busy preparing for the 1957 forest season.

With 79 per cent of last year's fires caused by human carelessness, the department is emphasizing the urgency of public co-operation to keep this year's losses down.

In the northern forested area of the province where the greatest fire incidence has been reported there are 142,000 square miles of wooded area to supervise. The 71 District Forest Officers in this area of the province are spread tidally, each responsible for well over 2,000 square miles of forest. Last year, fire suppression cost more than $620,000. Of this, more than $22,000 was spent on aircraft assistance for 372 hours of flying time for fixed wing and helicopter aircraft. These planes were used to help fight 24 fires, and employed on three different patrols of danger areas.

Greatest percentage of fire causes was by human agency, including incendiary fires. Lightning caused only 16 per cent and five per cent of the fires were of unknown causes.

Most fires were big fires.—23 per cent of last year's destructive blazes were Class E fires, affecting more than 500 acres of forest. Class D fires, covering from 100 to 500 acres, came to 20 per cent of the total as did the small blaze less than one quarter acre in size.

This is the season when forests begin to open for pleasure and commercial use. Their safety depends on public watchfulness and care.

Lawrence E. Kindt
Progressive Conservative
Candidate,
MacLeod Constituency

Many's the time I've led a horse to water when he didn't want to drink. And if I were able to stride a horse as ably now as I could some years ago, I would continue to ride him to water.

Perhaps some of you folks who read this column don't want to drink in the facts presented here. But I just want to point out that the information being presented by the Progressive Conservative party is factual. It is presented to you in case you are thirsty for some facts before you decide your choice and cast your vote on this election coming up in June.

One of my beliefs, evidently different than those of today's representatives in this area, is that facts and figures should be available to constituents and an opportunity given to them to have their representative report his actions, accomplishments and endeavors.

That chance has been lacking sadly in the MacLeod Riding since we chose Social Credit to represent us and Liberals to govern us. I want a chance to change that situation and will have that chance if you good folks choose Diefenbaker and the Progressive Conservatives as your government in this coming election.

I'm with Diefenbaker when he says "It's time for a New Deal for Western Agriculture and Industry."

Seattle Outdoor Grou to Visit Scenic Pass

BLAIRMORE — To further show the popularity of the scenic Crows Nest Pass, John F. Hogan, forestry superintendent at Blairmore, has received a letter from Herbert S. West, chairman of the Campercrafters of Seattle, which group is planning to visit the Pass in August.

The "campercrafters" are a family camping, hiking and climbing group of the "Seattle Mountaineers" Club, who are planning to camp in the district. The group will travel by way of Glacier Park and will come here to reach the Kananaskis Highway, where they plan on spending some time. The group have contacted Mr. Hogan regarding information on the area as to camping grounds and being able to purchase supplies for the journey.

The group will comprise some 15 families totalling some 60 persons including children. The trip is anticipated for August with the visit to the Pass being around August 7th.

Popular Area
The popularity of this area is increasing among tourists as last year hundreds of American cars mostly from the states of California and Oregon, were noticed camping along the well known Kananaskis Highway, gateway to fisherman and hunters. The rugged scenery along this mountain road is unsurpassed and not only provides for excellent fishing and hunting.

Former Coleman Resident Passes In Ladysmith

Friends were shocked to hear of the death in Ladysmith, B. C., on April 17 of William Dionne, 56, a former Coleman resident.

Born in St. Ignace, Montana, deceased came to Canada when a child, and settled with his family at Cowley. He came to Coleman in 1936. He was employed as miner at the McGillivray mine here until moving with his wife to Ladysmith in 1954. While in Coleman he was a member of the RCMP Reserve Army Unit. He was of the Catholic faith.

Survivors include his wife Mary of Ladysmith; a stepson, Alex Cyr of Cowley; four brothers, Fred at Whitehorse, Louis, Lawrence and George, all of Victoria, B. C., and several nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by a brother and his parents several years ago.

Funeral services were conducted from St. Andrew's Catholic Church in Victoria, B. C. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery.

Campaign To Cut Down Accidents To Children

Coroner's reports, hospital accident summaries and other sources give grim testimony to the number and types of deaths and accidents suffered by Alberta children last year and previously. A campaign sponsored by the Alberta Department of Health and supported by Home and School groups Red Cross, Alberta Safety League, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides and others, gets underway this month to help cut down on child accident tolls.

Last year 132 deaths of children under 14 years of age were reported in Alberta. Of these 56 per cent were children four years of age or under, and 84 per cent were nine years of age or under. 76 per cent of deaths were attributable to causes resulting from adult neglect or carelessness.

Motor vehicle accidents took the greatest toll, with 44 deaths. More than half of these were children under five years of age. One quarter of them were killed by falls from car or truck doors, and 57 per cent were hit by car or truck. Farm tractors were also responsible, killing four tots last year.

Heaviest toll from drownings lay in the five to 14 year group, and of all the 32 drowning deaths 34 per cent occurred on farms from falls into ditches, ponds or streams.

Asphyxia caused by choking over food while in bed, and 56 per cent of the deaths were children one year and under.

Fourteen children were killed in fires, scaldings and gas explosions while nine died of accidental gunshot wounds. Four tots died from mechanical mishaps as in machinery, on railway tracks and from electric shocks.

Miscellaneous death causes included a child falling down stairs, one falling from a go-cart, one youngster hit by a hockey puck, and another struck by lightning.

Poison accounted for three deaths, one as a result of error in medication given by an adult, and two from children eating poison found outside, left for animals.

Last year, more than 5,000 children were admitted to Alberta hospitals for treatment for accidental injuries. Alertness of adults to possible causes of these mishaps could reduce the accident and death toll considerably.

The Save a Child campaign is designed for this purpose.

Pub-keeper claims Monacan throne

A pub-keeper in a British village claims he is the true heir to the Monacan throne. It was disclosed in a recent issue of a Canadian magazine.

George Frederick Grimaldi, who says his real title is 13th Marquis of the ancient house of Grimaldi in Monaco, offers evidence that he and his wife have a better right to occupy the throne of Monaco than Prince Rainier III, and his movie star princess, the former Grace Kelly.

In an exclusive interview Grimaldi said that the College of Heralds made the "fullest inquiries" into his grandfather's genealogy and gave him a pedigree which showed him to be in direct line of descent from an exiled marquis of Monaco, who, he asserts, was cheated out of the throne back in 1731. In that year Prince Antonio, the ruling prince, died, leaving no male heir. His eldest daughter was placed on the throne despite a law which the English Grimaldis contend was in effect at that time, prohibiting a woman from inheriting. This daughter was married with a French count who arbitrarily took on the name of Grimaldi and the family's coat of arms.

The British Grimaldis are descended from Antonio's younger brother Alessandro, who allegedly should have inherited as the next of the male line, but who incurred the disfavor of the King of France and fled to England.

Prince Rainier is descended through the female line and thus, claim Alessandro's progeny, he is not really entitled to the throne.

The publican's grandfather, the 11th Marquis, contested the reigning prince's rule in 1912, but was refused. Now George Frederick says he's happy in his pub — but admits "it would be rather nice" to fly the Monaco pennant from the bonnet of his ancient Austin.

Good news for Canadian potato growers

The statement made by Federal Finance Minister Harris in Ottawa recently will be heartening to Canadian potato growers from Prince Edward Island to Victoria, and particularly at this time when a surplus of American potatoes is being offered on both sides of the line at prices that do not cover production costs. With a surplus approximating 40 million bushels of late varieties from the 1956 crop in the five big potato States bordering on Canada, the marketing outlook for the balance of the Canadian crop of 1956 has been indeed gloomy. Canadian producers had no option but to offer their potatoes at the same shipping point price as American potatoes, and in some instances, at a loss. For example, the transportation costs are less on potatoes moved from Moses Lake, Wash., to Vancouver, British Columbia, than from Grand Forks or Okanagan Valley points to Vancouver, and since there has been no duty on these potatoes, it meant that the Canadian grower was at a disadvantage in his own Canadian markets, compared to the American producer.

American new potatoes will still enter Canada free of duty from January 1st to June 14th inclusive, but the late varieties will be subject to the new tariff of 37½¢ per cwt. the year round.

This culminates 10 years of work by the potato producers' organizations in Canada through the Canadian Horticultural Council for a fair and reasonable adjustment of this tariff item. The Federal government finally took action in 1956 after all potato organizations in Canada had concurred in a single presentation to the government, and to the Tariff Board. Prior to that time there was no uniformity in the representations by the potato growers to the government, and nothing was done.

The new tariff is very nominal, being one half of the regular tariff rate imposed by United States.

United States has, since 1936, allowed the import of one million bushels of table potatoes and 1½ million bushels of seed potatoes per year, and since 1948 it has been 2½ million bushels, at a special rate of 37½¢ per cwt. This special quota of table potatoes represented about one-quarter of one per cent of all American potential requirements and so could not be regarded as any substantial concession on their part. Under the arrangement just negotiated United States will still permit the entry of 600,000 bushels of table potatoes and 1,500,000 bushels of seed potatoes at the special tariff rate of 37½¢ per cwt.

Plants in Ontario and Quebec largely account for Canadian production of patent and proprietary medicines and pharmaceuticals.

BURTON

The present economic dislocation in the 'Pass emphasizes the need of this area for effective representation in Ottawa.

Any federal government draws the bulk of its support from Eastern Canada for that is where the population is heavy. This means that we Albertans must make the most of the members which we have in the House of Commons.

Social Credit can't do a job for us in Ottawa. The important decisions are made by the party in power. The Liberal government will again be returned to office on June 10. The present member sits in opposition along with a handful of other Social Crediters from Alberta and British Columbia. His policy is to oppose everything and to propose nothing practical.

Social Credit is based on the belief that monetary policy is the answer to every problem. Will tinkering with money get the coal mines rolling? Of course it won't!

Our member hasn't done a job for the Crow. He admits that his party has no hope of being elected on June 10, but the coal miner has never had greater need of a voice speaking on his behalf where it counts.

Can you afford to vote Social Credit on June 10 and do without an effective voice in Ottawa for another five years?

RIGHT NOW I AM WORKING FOR AN OUT-LET FOR 'PASS COAL. ELECTED, I CAN DO MORE.

THE AIRSHIP OF THE FUTURE takes on the Flying saucer look. Lovell Lawrence, an automobile engineer speaking in Detroit recently said this is what a flying saucer of the future may look like from an engineering viewpoint. He said the ship is designed to fly about 25,000 miles per hour and would be 50 feet in diameter. It would contain an atomic reactor for power or else use burning, high energy gas. The ship could whirl slowly in a circle and create a gravitation pull within the saucer. A trip of 4,000,000 miles to Mars would require nine to 12 weeks Lawrence estimated.

HE GETS A CHANCE TO LIVE—The campaign to raise the necessary $3,000 for sending 10-month-old Johnny Slattery of Montreal to Minneapolis for a delicate heart operation has attained its objective. An anonymous $800 cheque was received recently bringing the total to $3,160. The money will be used to send the baby to the U.S. where a doctor believes he can save Johnny's life. The child suffers from a septal defect, a rare heart condition for which the only cure is an operation requiring special techniques and equipment available only in Minneapolis. Said Tom Slattery, the infant's father: "I don't know what to say. I'm overwhelmed. I never realized before that people could be so good."

RESTON'S MAIN STREET 1957—There are some who think that the spring thaw has played havoc with Reston's Main street. There is no evidence of excess water in the above picture taken back in 1957 but the street left much to be desired. On the left is St. John's Anglican church and rectory, and the first building on the right is the Baptist church, which was demolished several years ago. The U.G.G. elevator is in the background and some other buildings presently standing are recognizable.

BEAUTY AND THE BLOSSOMS—The annual display of blossoms in the Niagara peninsula will soon get under way if appearance of apricot and peach blooms are any indication. Here, Josephine Fernick admires some of the delicate apricot blooms on a tree in St. Catharines, Ont. In about two weeks the entire district near and around the Niagara river will be filled with spectators to witness the annual spectacle of flowering fruit trees laden with blossoms.

THE CAMPAIGN

Progress reports on Red Cross campaign collections so far received at headquarters indicate that $172,500 has been collected. An accurate picture of the huge task being completed by volunteers in some 900 points in the province will not be available until all the reports are in. Many points have exceeded their quotas and all the reports that have been received at headquarters are most encouraging.

Good seed bed important consideration

A suitable seed bed enabling grain to start well, is a most important consideration when beginning spring work on the land. Earl Johnson, soil conservationist with the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture, said recently:

"If seed is handicapped by dry conditions, deep seeding, loose soil, weed competition or rough surface, the young plants will be weak and the stand uneven, while some kernels will not even germinate. The result is a poor start and very likely a light yield. On the other hand, a good seed bed which gives seed the best chance possible is firm in texture, reasonably level, moist and free from weed growth. The surface should be granular, neither badly powdered nor very lumpy."

"Finishing touches for seed bed preparation must be put on the land in spring. However, the fact that a crop will be sown should be kept in mind at all times during summer/fallow operations. Lack of proper adjustment of implements such as the cultivator can make ridges which will be very difficult to correct in spring."

"Where seasonal conditions permit, spring cultivation should be carried out only when land is in a reasonably moist condition. Working land too wet or too dry is often harmful."

"The implement to be used depends on soil conditions. The disc is a good machine to use where soil drifting is unlikely to occur. Where shallow, even depth cultivation is possible, either the cultivator or spring tooth harrow should be used to leave a better surface. Regardless of type of implement used, cultivation before seeding should be shallow and of an even depth."

"On uniform heavy soils, careful operation is more important than the implement used for seeding. With most soils the press drill gives the best results. On sand, the plough and pony press drill give the most dependable effect, however. Seed should at all times be placed deep enough to reach moist soil."

"Packing is recommended on moist soils, and is an absolute necessity for stubble seeding. Where the soil is very loose, picking or rod weeding before seeding should be considered since this operation firms the seed bed."

"Delay in seeding following the first operation allows a crop of weeds to be killed before seeding, and is the one satisfactory method of fighting wild oats. As long as surface moisture is maintained, a slight delay in seeding means a faster germination and a crop which will compete better with weeds and ultimately produce a higher yield."

SWEEPIN' HER IN—The annual inter-service military band at Kenora, Ont., wouldn't be the same without a strong English entry that proves a threat both on the ice and in the mess. This year when Col. Jim Blair, the new D Works, couldn't make it Major Dick King moved up from third and skipped the entry from Winnipeg. ### Agricultural societies to hold first Northern District Conference

A northern district agricultural society conference, the first ever held in this area, will take place in Dauphin, at the request of D.C. Foster, director of extension of the department of agriculture.

The information comes from Dauphin a-g-r-e-p, Dave Hill, who received a copy of the letter addressed to a-g-r-e-p and agricultural society secretaries in Dauphin, Swan River, Gilbert Plains, Roblin, Ste. Rose and Ethelbert. Mr. Foster is anxious to organize the hereto unrepresented northern area of Manitoba, and at this meeting a director will be chosen to serve on the advisory board of the Manitoba agricultural societies.

Mr. Foster's letter also invites the home economist from the listed towns and, if time permits at the meeting, a short session will be provided for the lady directors. In any event he looks for several men and women to attend from each society, one of whom will be asked—

Guard your sight as most precious possession

"Guard your sight as your most precious possession" urged Mrs. W.C. Bending, president The Canadian Council of the Blind. She was commenting on the theme of White Canes Week, February 10-16, "Be Wise, take care of your eyes."

Cosponsored by the Canadian Council of the Blind and the Canadian National Institute for the Blind for the past 12 years, this national education period has played a major part in developing a greater understanding between sightless and sighted from St. John's to Victoria.

"This year we are turning to sight conservation," Mrs. Bending said. Asked why blind persons are so concerned with the care of the eyes the president replied, "Because we have learned from experience the difficulties of living from day to day under blindness." Mrs. Bending vividly portrayed the problems of the housewife who is blind. "Imagine yourself without sight," she suggested. "How would you get along with your daily duties?"

Announce new low rates

To attract a larger volume of traffic to the rails in the West Canadian National and Canadian Pacific railways have announced a carload incentive plan that provides for new low rates to become effective on April 4.

The lower tolls will apply to selected commodities that have been subject to increasing truck competition.

In return for the bonus rates, however, the railways require minimum car loads of 24,000 pounds. The bonus will increase for loads up to 60,000 pounds in the case of heavy goods.

The new rates will apply to and from such distributing and manufacturing centres as Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver.

While the emphasis is on such consumer goods as groceries, dry-goods and hardware, primary products such as packinghouse and dairy products, agricultural implements and parts, chemicals, paints, composition roofing, tractors and reinforcing steel are also included.

Sample rates were quoted as follows: Drygoods moving from Winnipeg to Regina, depending on the carload weight shipped, will be 38c to 47c per 100 pounds; hardware and certain roofing materials, from Winnipeg to Saskatoon, 58c to 67c; foodstuffs between Calgary and Edmonton, 30c to 20c; canned meats, from Calgary to Saskatoon, 57c to 44c; butter and cheese, from Edmonton to Calgary, 30c to 24c; cleaning compounds and liquid starch, from Vancouver to Calgary, $1.20 to $1.05; butter and cheese, from Edmonton to Vancouver, $1.20 to $1.05.

Railway officials do not estimate the amount of traffic involved. They point out, however, that the savings provided an attractive incentive to ship by rail.

B.C. Electric starts on natural gas plans

Plan for distribution of natural gas in Surrey Municipality will be outlined to Surrey Municipal Council at next Monday's meeting.

With expiry of the April 1st deadline for municipal action on natural gas distribution, the B.C. Electric's certificate for distribution becomes valid in this municipality.

To be ironed out with the Municipal Council are the location of distribution lines, conditions governing digging up of roads, approval of plans.

Of special interest will be the target date when the utility company can give natural gas to consumers in Surrey. With construction programs already underway in other districts of the Fraser Valley it is not known at present just how long Surrey householders will have to wait for natural gas. —The Surrey Leader, Cloverdale, B.C.—April 4, 1957.

RCAP HOUSING PLAN FOR 430 HOMES APPROVED

Announcement was made at Tuesday night's meeting of St. James council of the formal approval by the Department of National Defence of an RCAF personnel rental housing scheme which would cost some $7 millions and provide 430 homes, one 30-room school and two park sites of approximately two acres each. —The Leader, St. James, Man., April 4, 1957.

Suppose you have just bought a pound of butter and a quart of milk. You are well acquainted with the layout of your kitchen, and so find the refrigerator without incident. Experience has taught you that system is a "must" for a housemaker. One hand must be kept free for "seeing" so the milk and butter are put away one item at a time.

Even setting the table is a lengthy energy-consuming process for you. As the table setting progresses you must avoid knocking over the cream pitcher or placing the pickles on top of the butter. When removing the cloth, you cannot glance at the table to see that all the dishes are cleared away. You must take time to examine it carefully, or finish with a vase of flowers on the floor.

"With clothing you will find a problem in handling the wide variety of colors," Mrs. Bending said. "You will have to keep white gloves and accessories in one drawer, blue in another, and brown in a third. You must be careful even to separate your light and dark hat pins. Should you forget just which is which, you may find yourself wearing a color combination like a patchwork quilt."

These problems are not insurmountable," Mrs. Bending explained. "They have been defeated time and time again. But if you wish to continue your housekeeping the easy way, take a tip from the blind this White Canes Week—"Be wise, take care of your eyes." —The Times, Taber, Alberta.

Improved with age

Many employers have found that older persons have special skills to offer, backed by thorough training and long experience. These people are not so prone to casual absenteeism, and except where heavy muscular labor is involved, they compete well with younger workers.
